Your Ceremony

Licensed for civil marriage and partnership ceremonies, the Andrew Logan Museum of Sculpture has all the colour and light of a grand cathedral, but in an intimate setting. Filled with dazzling, joyful artworks, it's a unique and magical place for a ceremony with up to 50 guests.

“A British national treasure since before that phrase was invented” (the FT), Logan creates artworks that “give everyday items an almost sacred feel” (ArtUK). A memorable backdrop to your ceremony, these include the 15-foot tall ‘Cosmic Egg’ – “about where we came from, where we are going” – as well as “LOVE”, its large letters inviting reflection (as well as excellent photo ops). Other Instagrammable pieces on site include portraits of Dame Zandra Rhodes and the legendary Divine.

Our award-winning wedding coordinator can arrange professional photography, flowers or anything else you might require.

Your Reception

A reception at the Lion Art Hotel, a few minutes walk from the museum, is the perfect complement to your ceremony. The hotel's restored Jacobean exterior conceals a visually lavish, welcoming environment featuring artworks by Andrew and vibrant colour schemes that enliven the rustic 17th c. architecture.

Whether you'd like a wedding breakfast, an afternoon tea or an evening dinner or drinks, the hotel offers a reception that's bespoke to your needs. Its Red Room seats up to 16 guests between crimson walls, original wooden beams and artworks by Andrew and his friend the late Duggie Fields. For a less intimate affair, the equally impressive Blue Room seats up to 50, or caters for up to 100 buffet-style.

Our chef has won accolades for his inventive cuisine and our wedding coordinator will look after all the details that matter - from helping you plan the menu to ensuring table settings are perfect and guests well looked after.

Accommodation

The hotel's 7 en-suite rooms offer comfortable, stylish and well-appointed accommodation for you and your guests. Beds feature supportive mattresses and high-count cotton sheets. Bathrooms are sleek, modern and vibrantly colourful, some with roomy rain showers. Tea and coffee making facilities are included in each room, as are TV, and complimentary toiletries

But what makes the hotel truly special is the chance to sleep inside an artwork. Each room is decorated around a different theme running through Andrew Logan's art: the elements 'Earth', 'Water', 'Fire' and 'Air', together with 'Sun' and 'Void', plus an especially royal 'Regal' that's the perfect bridal suite for the happy couple.
